

LUNCHEON OF THE SEASON

est iami has plenty of ladies who lunch, but leave it to philanthropists Suzy Buckley Woodward, Daniela Swaebé, Carol Iacovelli, Marisa Toccin Lucas and Jennifer Valoppi to turn a Monday-before-Thanksgiving afternoon meal into a must-attend event.

The group started Rosé Day last year to raise funds for Women of Tomorrow, which provides scholarships and pairs professional women with at-risk teen girls for mentoring. Between ticket profits, swag bag sales, a marketplace, sponsorships and a raffle, Buckley Woodward says the group grossed more than $80,000 in just a few hours. This year, organizers are expecting an even larger turnout, which is not surprising considering the afternoon is all about mingling, sipping Château d'Esclans and shopping (a Saks Fifth Avenue pop-up is in the works). As far as dress code goes? Pink garments and elegant hats are a must! Nov. 21, noon, from $500. Ceconi's, Saha Beach House, 4385 Collins Ave., Miami Beach, 305.371.3330, womenoftomorrow.org

126

MIAMI NOVEMBER 2016

GALA HIT LIST

1

THE GRAND GALA

Baptist Health Foundation's big soiree will benefit the much-anticipated new Miami Cancer Institute, a state-of-the-art clinic that will focus on cutting-edge therapies, which is set to open in January. Chairs Karel Foti, Lourdes Jofre-Collett and Dr. Leonard Kalman expect more than 800 attendees. Nov. 12, 6:30pm, from $2,500, 8900 N. Kendall Drive, Miami, 786.467.5400, baptisthealth.net/foundation

2

MIAMI CITY BALLET GALA

MCB's big party (its 31st) will be inspired by the company's world premiere of The Fairy's Kiss. A frozen fairy-tale theme is in the works and, as always, proceeds will

PARTY OF THE YEAR

The Science

After taking a gala year off and Phillip Frost Museum of Science back in fundraising mode this season with the Opening Year Celebration (as promised) will take place at the museum's new state-of-the-art home in Downtown Miami this coming spring. To say interest is high would be an understatement, and while all the details have not yet been released, insiders have let it slip that guests will get to enjoy immersive laser light shows, an interactive dance floor and cocktails underneath the venue's stunning Gulf Stream Aquarium. When sharks can be spotted swimming above human heads, Miami will know the future has arrived. March 17, time and ticket prices not finalized as of press time, 1101 Biscayne Blvd., Miami, 305.434.9600, frostscience.org

PARTY OF THE YEAR

The Science Soiree!

After taking a gala year off, The Patricia and Phillip Frost Museum of Science is back in fundraising mode this season with the Opening Year Celebration, which (as promised) will take place at the museum's new state-of-the-art home in Downtown Miami this coming spring. To say interest is high would be an understatement, and while all the details have not yet been released, insiders have let it slip that guests will get to enjoy immersive laser light shows, an interactive dance floor and cocktails underneath the venue's stunning Gulf Stream Aquarium. When sharks can be spotted swimming above human heads, Miami will know the future has arrived.

March 17, time and ticket prices not finalized as of press time, 1101 Biscayne Blvd., Miami, 305.434.9600, frostscience.org

FROST SCIENCE