

THE PHILLIP AND PATRICIA FROST MUSEUM OF SCIENCE WELCOMES NEW BOARD MEMBER AND SENIOR LEADERSHIP

MIAMI, Fla. – The Phillip and Patricia Frost Museum of Science in Downtown Miami’s Museum Park is proud to announce the addition of Kieran Bowers to its Board of Trustees, along with three new members to its senior leadership team, Dr. Angela Colbert, Iva Kosović and Joseph Quiñones. Together, they bring a combination of business knowledge, community leadership and education experience to the Board of Trustees and senior leadership team.

Kieran Bowers is the President of Swire Properties US, overseeing Brickell City Centre and EAST, Miami hotel. Bowers is a 20-year veteran of the company, prior to assuming his position in 2017 he served in a variety of high-level positions for the leading Hong Kong-based real estate developer. Bowers graduated from Pembroke College, Oxford University with an honors degree in Japanese. A Chartered Surveyor, he is a member of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors and holds a master’s degree in Surveying from the University of Reading, United Kingdom.

Dr. Angela Colbert has been with the museum for over six years and was recently promoted to the role of Knight Vice President of Education. In her new role, Colbert will oversee the development and management of all educational programs and initiatives within Frost Science and those that serve the community. The position was made possible by the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation. Colbert received her Ph.D. in meteorology and physical oceanography from the University of Miami Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science, where her research focused on how climate change impacts hurricanes, and previously received a Bachelor of Science in mathematics education from the University of Central Florida.

Iva Kosović is the newest member of the Frost Science senior leadership team. Kosović will head the advancement team as the new Vice President of Advancement and Community Engagement. She will provide strategic leadership relating to community engagement and philanthropic support, including leading all fundraising activities, and government and community relations. Kosović spent the last ten years in notable positions with the New World Symphony, America’s Orchestral Academy (NWS), a leading cultural organization that prepares graduates of music programs for leadership roles in professional orchestras and ensembles. She holds a master's degree in Performing Arts Management from Florida International University.

Joseph A. Quiñones has been with the museum for over four years and has stepped into the role of Vice President of Marketing. In his new role, Quiñones will continue to develop and implement communication strategies for all museum programs, events and initiatives, building brand awareness and advancing its mission to a range of audiences. Quiñones has managed marketing initiatives and media relations for national luxury brands and local organizations. He holds a Master of Science in global strategic communications and a Bachelor of Science in communications from Florida International University.
